

Are you a resident in one of the towers on the Alma estate?

Argonon/Transparent Television are doing some research for a documentary about the history of council housing presented by Michael Portillo, and we are interested in doing a segment on the story behind tower block estates.

We would like to hear from Alma estate's long-term residents who can tell us about their experiences of living on this estate and how they feel about the regeneration plans.

If you are interested in finding out more, then please get in touch.
